TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 29, 1862

The Secesh Platform.

When the secesh platform came to us in a slip, we verily thought it was a clever hoax, got up by some wag in the south part of the State. We are of the opinion that our neighbor of the Advertiser also thought so, for two numbers of the Advertiser appeared subsequent to the arrival of the choice article before it was published in that paper.

This remarkable production commences with the sentiment of the immortal Jackson, "the Union, it must and shall be preserved"—a sentiment which is entirely hostile to all the acts and doings of the leaders of the party. They have invariably claimed that States had a right to secede from the Union; that they had cause for such secession—and that "their sympathies were with the South."

But in regard to this secesh platform, which professes to recognize the patriotism of Gen Jackson's declaration, "The Union shall be preserved," we ask, How is this to be effected? The second plank of the secesh platform appeals to conservative citizens to unite with the secesh party in "sustaining all constitutional efforts to suppress the rebellion, restore the Union and to defend our country against all foes, whether foreign or domestic." The idea here given out is, that the Union shall be preserved and the rebellion put down by 'the constitutional efforts" of the Government. Now, if we can ascertain what is here meant by "constitutional efforts" of Government, we shall advance an important step towards ascertaining what are the true doctrines of this platform. We can find nothing satisfactory on this point in the first, second and third, resolutions.

The fourth resolution seems to promulge the idea that the "constitutional" means to put down this rebellion are for Government to abide by the doctrines said to be embodied in the famed Dred Scott Decision and to take the position that this war, under any circumstances, shall not be used for the liberation and enfranchisement of slaves. The suggestion that the rebellion can be terminated by the Government recognizing the Dred Scott Decision, is original, and also that Government shall scrupulously respect the property of the rebels which is used to make war upon it—negroes among other chattels is equally so. We suppose, according to this new article in the secesh code, if a thousand negroes and a thousand horses were captured while employed in building forts or performing labor in sustaining rebel armies, the Government should not, by any means, restore all, and use them for their own benefit, or turn them out to take care of themselves.

The sixth resolution of the platform is more to the point. It tells us what means should not be used to sustain the Government and to put down the rebellion. It tells us that the writ of habeas corpus should not be suspended in case of rebellion, although the Constitution makes especial provision for this purpose. The idea seems to stand out that by the suspension of this writ, traitors, who are engaged in measures to destroy the Government, may be arrested and their machinations circumvented. A suspension of the writ for this purpose is most strenuously opposed by the secesh party every where. Jeff. Davis is not more hostile to this suspension of the habeas corpus writ than the secesh party of Oregon. The arrest of citizens without process of law, is denounced. Men who are in communion with the enemy, spies within the loyal lines, must not be arrested without due process of law. Obviously Jeff Davis would concur entirely in this declaration of the Oregon secession platform. he does not want his friends—who are found everywhere in the loyal States plotting treason—to be "arrested without due process of law." Major Andre, in the Revolution, held precisely the same opinion. Nor does the platform like the suspension of free speech and free press. It holds to the doctrine that Government is bound to transport in its mails papers laboring for its destruction and to distribute them by the agency of its postmasters. It also complains that men are not permitted to go about in the loyal States fomenting treason against the Union and the Government. Jeff Davis holds precisely the same sentiments as are thus announced by the leaders of the secesh party of Oregon.

Resolution seventh condemns every movement of the people to sustain their government. The secesh party would rejoice at all accessions to its strength from all men and all parties. It denounces every movement which shall strengthen the government—which shall encourage our gallant countrymen in the loyal States, of all parties and of all sects who have taken arms in their hands to meet the rebels in arms who have and are endeavoring to destroy our Government. It has no sympathy with these patriots, nor have these patriots sympathy with them.

The last resolution of this platform denounces the frauds practiced upon the Government by contractors and others in this war. Doubtless this has been done. Government are doing all it can to reach and punish the villains. Under the last administration which was sustained by the secession leaders and which nearly destroyed and demoralized our Government, there were robberies of public offices at Washington, there were robberies everywhere they could be practised by the political friends of the secesh party in Oregon but we never heard them complain. Their horror at thieving and robbing, is a new feature of their system and dates back only to the period when their friends appeared in arms to seize upon Washington. We, too, denounce the frauds upon the Government—all possible care is taken to discover them and to punish their authors, but their villainous transactions do not justify the destruction of the Government, nor cause us to wish for the success of the rebellion.

The Secesh Platform of Oregon would suit any portion of rebeldom without variation, and is precisely that which Joe Lane proposed to put the State of Oregon upon, when he last left the Eastern States.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Capture of Fort Pulaski—Important Operations at Corinth, and on the Mississippi—Huntsville Ala, captured—Rebel Communications cut off—Operations at Yorktown.

EDINBURG (Va) April 11th.—A foraging party was attacked yesterday by forty of Ashby's cavalry. The rebels were repulsed.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Letters speaking of the siege of Yorktown say that McClellan has 150 000 men and 240 pieces of artillery.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—Advices from the Southwest say that the advance guard of Gen Curtis' army is encamped at Rock House creek, twenty miles from the old camp at Cross Timbers.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Secretary of War has received information that Huntsville Alabama, was occupied yesterday by General Mitchell's division, without much resistance. Two hundred prisoners were taken.

Cyrus W. Field arrived this afternoon direct from London. He reports that the feeling in England and France in favor of this country is daily increasing. It is said that Field brought with him from Europe proposals from influential capitalists to supply very large amounts of war material to the United States, to be delivered at New York, and paid for entirely in United States bonds.

BALTIMORE, April 12.—The Richmond Whig of the 8th has the folowing. Letters have been received at New Orleans from San Antonio announcing the fall of Fort Craig, New Mexico, by unconditional surrender.

A dispatch dated Mobile, April 6th, says "The enemy shelled Pass Christian yesterday and landed 2 400 men with 12 and 14 pound howitzers. Our [rebel] force was three hundred men, who escaped."

The pirate Nashville has been at Charleston.

The same paper contains news from Yorktown. A shell exploded on Sunday among Gen Magruder's staff. One horse was killed. The General had a very narrow escape. Jeff Davis addressed the lame and wounded soldiers on Monday, and declared his intention of sharing their fate on the next battle field.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The rebels have not 5 000 troops between Richmond and Gordonsville.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Port Royal advices to the 17th say that an assault would be made on Savannah next day. Our pickets were within eight miles of the city.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Gen Banks telegraphs to the War Department, from Woodstock, Va, that he learns, via rebel sources, that Beauregard is dead.

YORKTOWN, April 13.—On Friday three hundred of the 12th New York Volunteers on picket duty were attacked by a rebel regiment. After a volley from the 12th the rebels retreated having several killed and wounded. Later in the day the rebels advanced in considerable numbers from another point, driving in our entire pickets and burning a dwelling which had been used by our troops. During both skirmishes we had three men slightly wounded. Two Pennsylvania regiments also had a skirmish with the enemy on Friday, in which we lost two killed and four wounded.

CHICAGO, April 13th.—The body of General Wallace, wounded in the battle of Pittsburg Landing, and since dead passed through here last night en route to Ottowa Illinois.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Commodore Dupont reports to the department the capture of three schooners, on the passage between Santee river and Charleston, loaded with rice and cornmeal. He also reports the capture of the ship Emily St. Pierre, from Calcutta, steering directly for Charleston harbor, with a cargo of 2 200 bales of gunny cloth. An English sloop from Nassau was also captured within two miles of Charleston bar.

NASHVILLE, Tenn, April 14.—On Saturday morning an expedition went from Huntsville, Ala to the junction of the Chattanooga with the Memphis and Charleston railroad at which point was seized 2 000—[guns, or bales of cotton?]—the enemy retiring without firing a shot. Five locomotives and a large quantity of rolling stock were captured. Another expedition left at the same time and went west to Decatur, arriving in time to save the railroad, which had been seized by the rebels. Gen. Mitchell's division holds one hundred miles of the Memphis and Charleston road.

CAIRO, April 15th.—There is nothing new from Pittsburg Landing. The latest report says Gen Halleck arrived there, and was reorganizing the army. It is impossible yet to give the correct number of killed and wounded. It is stated that orders were found on Sidney Johnson's body, from Jeff Davis, to press on to the attack by Wednesday before Buell could join Grant. The rebel General Ruggles was killed. Bushrod Johnson is also reported dead. The report telegraphed from Banks's headquarters that Beauregard is dead, is probably incorrect.

BALTIMORE, April 15th.—The Savannah (Ga) Republican of the 12th, announces the unconditional surrender of Fort Pulaski on the previous day at two p. m. Seven large breaches were made in the south wall by a Federal battery of eight Parrott guns at King's Landing. All the barbette guns on that side were dismounted, also three of the casemate guns. A breach was also made in the magazine. The balls used were conical propelled with such force that they went through the walls at nearly every fire. Col Olmstead the rebel commander, signalled the day previous to the surrender, that our fire was so terrible that no one could stand on the parapet a single moment. Over one thousand of our shells exploded in the fort.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 14th.—Richmond papers contain editorials exhibiting considerable fear for the safety of that city. They intimate that the Monitor, Naugatuck and Galena might easily come up the James river in consequence of their invulnerability and power to take and keep possession of the city. To prevent such a result it is proposed that the channel of the James river be obstructed by stone.

PITTSBURG LANDING, April 14th.—A force of four or five thousand left the Landing on Saturday night, accompanied by the gun boats Tyler and Lexington, proceeded up the Tennessee to a point near Eastport, Miss, where they landed, marched to Bear Creek Bridge and destroyed two bridges of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad at that point—one measuring 120 feet and the other 140 feet in length. The rebel cavalry, numbering 150 found there, retreated with a loss of four killed. The expedition returned on Saturday night without having lost a man. The destruction of these bridges completely cuts off communication between the main body of the rebels at Corinth and the rest of the Confederates except those at New Orleans.

ST LOUIS, April 15th.—Gen. Halleck arrived at Pittsburg Landing on Friday. Gen Grant, in his official report of the battle estimates our loss at 1 500 killed and 3 000 wounded. The loss of the enemy in killed and left on the field is greater than ours—Their wounded cannot be estimated, as many of their number must have been sent to Corinth. The loss of artillery is heavy—many pieces being disabled by the enemy's shot. Some companies lost all their horses and many men. Not less than two hundred horses were killed. The rebel outposts are at the foot of Pea Ridge, eight miles from Corinth. The advance of the Federal troops are eight miles from Pittsburg—leaving a space of only two miles between the opposing armies. A battle may be fought at any moment. We have the strongest assurance that our army is ready for the encounter. Beauregard sent a flag of truce requesting permission to bury the rebel dead, and saying that "Owing to the heavy reinforcements the Federals received on Sunday night and Monday, and the fatigue of my men, I deemed it prudent to retire, and not renew the battle."—Permission was not granted.

ST LOUIS, April 14.—Correspondence from the Army of the Southwest states that the whole Confederate force that was in the late Pea Ridge battle had gone east, down the Arkansas river. They passed through Clarksville sixty miles from Van Buren, ten days ago. At that place 2,000 cavalry were said to have taken the road north to Huntsville. It was impossible to learn the destination of their troops, but it was probably some point on the Mississippi, or Jacksonport, Arkansas. It is also reported that the rebel force at Pocahontas have orders upon the appearance of the Federal force to retreat to Jacksonport. Price with the Missouri State Guards, was left at Van Buren.

BALTIMORE, April 14th.—The United States steamer Hernandez arrived this morning with rebel prisoners. On board of the prizes were five passengers, one of them a Captain in the rebel army. About two hundred letters addressed to persons in Baltimore and various portions of Maryland were also found.

WASHINGTON, April 15th.—A dispatch from General Wool, Fortress Monroe, last night says everything is quiet and the weather very favorable to the operations at Yorktown. It is probable that McClellan will soon be able to open his batteries upon the fortifications of the enemy.

Specials to New York papers state that an officer who left the army before Yorktown, reports that General McClellan is in the best of spirits and sanguine of his ability to drive the rebels out of Yorktown, Virginia. The same officer says when he left the rebels were burning their barracks, in evidence of preparation to evacuate, expecting speedily to be driven back.

WASHINGTON, April 15th.—In the Senate McDougall called up the resolution calling on the Secretary of War for information as to the causes that delay the Court Martial of Gen Stone. He said that the fact that fifty days had elapsed since the arrest without the prisoner being able to learn why he was arrested, or by whom and the manner of his arrest and confinement seemed more like the result of a Venetian Council of Ten, than that of a free republic. Wade defended the Committee on the Conduct of the War, and said he believed Stone's arrest justifiable. No action was taken on the resolution.

The brigs Adelaide and Mary Wright arrived at Liverpool on the 3d, having run the blockade at Charleston. They left there March 3d and brought jointly, 1 400 bales of cotton 200 boxes of tobacco and some rosin. They left Charleston with the bark Fernan and four schooners, all loaded with cotton and rosin. They report that the sunken stone fleet was fast breaking up, leaving Charleston harbor filled with floating timber.

The Times says it is understood that orders have been given at all dock yards to suspend operations on wooden ships.

The Morning Post calls attention to the improvement America is making in ordnance. The weight of the shot thrown by the Monitor was nearly double that of any used on board British ships.

It is supposed that England withdraws from the Mexican expedition, but that there is no rupture between the allies. The chief part in the expedition will now be taken by the French.

The Italian correspondent of the London Times predicts important events in Italy.

In Greece it is stated that the news of the surrender of Nauplia was unfounded. The citadel is able to hold out four months longer.

There was a doubtful report that a steamer built at Liverpool with twenty Blakely 100 pounders, had gone to Gibraltar then under the Tuscarora.

At Copenhagen on the 21 the Minister of Marine stated in Council that he would ask large credits for the construction of iron plated ships, and said no more wooden vessels should be built. The declaration was received with great satisfaction.

In Turkey, the insurgent have destroyed eight towns by fire and sword.

Six British vessels go to Cherbourg to escort the Emperor Napoleon to England to visit the great Exhibition.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 16th.—A flag of truce was sent this morning to deliver certain terms and dispatches but the nature of the news has not transpired. It was impossible to obtain even a glimpse of the papers read at headquarters.

The Richmond Dispatch contains a telegram from Beauregard, dated Corinth April 9th stating that he was strongly intrenched and prepared to defeat the Federals in whatever numbers they might attack him. He claims the battle of Pittsburg Landing as a most important rebel victory. He says he captured 6 000 Federal prisoners and thirty six pieces of cannon. No mention is made of Beauregard being wounded.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Specials to the New York papers state that letters from Yorktown say that General Magruder's reason for leaving his outer works was because the roads were too bad for the transportation of supplies, and also to get our troops away from the protection of the gunboats.

A dispatch received by the Navy Department from Cairo says our flotilla has been within three quarters of a mile of Fort Pillow and from thence had taken a position two miles above. The rebel gunboats ten in number, are stationed below the Fort. Our mortar boats were in position and had opened fire. Gen Pope's command occupied the Arkansas side of the river.

The President to day signed the bill for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia.

BALTIMORE, April 16.—Secession sympathizers say the rebels have another steamer equal to the Merrimac, completed at Richmond, and ready to sail down James river in a few days.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Brigadier General Mitchell was nominated yesterday Major General on the recommendation of the Secretary of War, for gallant services in the capture of Huntsville, Decatur and Stevenson Junction.

KANSAS CITY, April 17.—A mail from Fort Union confirms the news of a battle at Apache Pass. Our forces numbered 1 800 and the Texans 1,300. Our loss in killed wounded and missing is 150. The enemy acknowledge a loss of 340 or 400. We captured fifty three prisoners, and twelve of them officers also, captured and burned sixty four wagons loaded with provisions and ammunition, killing two hundred mules belonging to the train which were too poor to be driven. The Texans attacked our battery four times, at the last time coming within forty feet of our guns but were repulsed with great loss. Our forces, at last advices, were encamped at Diamond Springs, forty miles south of Fort Union. The Texans fell back to Santa Fe.

NEW YORK, April 17.—An arrival from Havana states that numbers of small vessels and also the rebel steamer Austin, from New Orleans, had arrived, loaded with cotton. Two so-called English steamers—Fox and Morgan—had also arrived from New Orleans loaded with cotton.

WOODSTOCK, (Va) April 16.—Sixty one of Ashby's cavalry, including three officers were captured this morning and brought to this place.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Specials to the New York papers state that rumors are in circulation that Secretary Stanton has resigned, in consequence of a difference of opinion between him and the President touching the movement of troops.

Every day new barbarities perpetrated by the rebels come to light. This week two soldiers, who had strayed from the ranks near Manassas, were found, it is reported on credible authority, by the roadside with their throats cut from ear to ear.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The War Department advertises for a proposition for the construction of one or more gunboats, similar in plan to the Ericsson battery, for service on Mississippi and the Gulf.

The rebels have for several days been building large fortifications on the Gloucester side of the York river, about two miles from Yorktown, and within sight of our gunboats, but their guns were of too long a range to allow of the approach of the gunboats to shell the works. About 1,000 men were at work on the fortifications, and the mortars were not sufficient to check operations. Yesterday morning, however, the Cohago, heavy 100 pounder rifled gun, at once opened on them with shell, which were so well aimed that they could be seen falling in their midst, exploding with fatal effect. The rebels could be distinctly seen hurrying off their killed and wounded. In the course of two hours the work was entirely suspended, the men retreating out of range. At every attempt to renew the work they were driven back up till night.

The steamer Philadelphia from Fort Pickens April 9th says only 500 rebel soldiers were at Pensacola. Fort McRae has been abandoned. The forts at the eastern end of Santa Rosa Island have been taken by the Union troops. The Philadelphia brings nine refugees from Pensacola and one sailor from the rebel camp, who ran away with $10 000 in gold and a large amount of Confederate scrip.

HALIFAX, April 16th.—The Canada has arrived with dates from Liverpool to April 5th and Queenstown to the 6th.

Continental as well as English papers continue to discuss the great importance of the experience gained by the engagement between the Monitor and the Merrimac. It is generally admitted that marine warfare has undergone a change, and it is only a solution of the question between wooden vessels and iron ones.

Gladstone made a financial report, and in the course of his speech adverted to the great drawbacks from the American crisis which had turned out worse than was anticipated. The cotton crisis was a most serious feature to England. The blockade had, of course been expected, but it proved far more vigorous and extended over a greater line of coast than had been anticipated. Its effect had been to nearly double the price of cotton. The loss on American trade was great, exports having decreased seventeen million pounds in cotton.

Layard said the Government had official information that a Convention had been entered into between the Commissioners of the allied Powers and the Government of Mexico, and it was believed the forces had been withdrawn from Mexico except an all portion; that it was understood they should take any part in the expedition into the interior, and they would return except about 1,000, who would be left there for the performance of ordinary duties.

Preparations had commenced for cutting down the Royal Sovereign one of the finest three deckers in the navy, to a turret ship on Capt. Cole's plan which is said to be the same in principle as Ericsson's Monitor.

Gen. Gomez return to France from Rome is regarded as almost certain.

The Paris correspondent of the London Daily News says a difference between England and France is very likely.

Ship Yorktown a regular packet from London to New York, has been captured on the voyage by a Confederate privateer.

How to go to the Mines.—Miners who now purpose going to Salmon River, Rhodes Creek, and the other mining regions, should not start out unprepared to travel through a cold and starved out country, for it is known by all who have come from above the Cascades that the country is now bare of all kinds of provisions, by its supplies having been cut off by the long stoppage of navigation. Therefore we would enjoin all who wish to go through comfortably, and return with their pocketsfull of "Rocks," to call at HARKER BROTHERS, opposite the Upper Wharf, and supply themselves with Flour, Bacon, Beans, Groceries, Blankets, Clothing, Rubber and Nailed Boots, and all other articles necessary for mining purposes, before they embark for the Land of Promise.

☞ Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic Affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public Speakers and Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

☞ The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for those extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the LEADER in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures, in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.

Information of James B. Hughes Wanted.

JAMES B. HUGHES is supposed to have been a resident of Portland, Oregon. For about ten years past his friends in Michigan have not heard from him. A short time since it was understood by his friends in Michigan that he had died some time about the date of March, 1861, and that he left a large amount of property. In person he was a short and thick-set man, of dark complexion, sharp featured, and by occupation a lumber-dealer and commission merchant, owning extensive lumber and flouring mills.—His present age, if he were living, would be about sixty-one years. He went to California in 1849. His former residence was Chicago, Ill. It is supposed that he left a wife and two children, but that they are since deceased.

Should any citizen of Oregon or Washington Territory, or California, possess any knowledge of this James B. Hughes, and will communicate the same to the editor of this paper or the undersigned, a great favor will be conferred, which will be duly acknowledged.

Recipe for Potato Pudding.

Mr. John Darling, a worthy and intelligent mechanic, who has been, for two years past, a resident of our town, was somewhat surprised and considerably gratified one day last fall, at receiving an invitation to dine with Col. Philpot, one of the aristocracy.

Mr. Darling enjoys that respect in our community which mechanical ingenuity and integrity united are always sure to command everywhere. These qualities, and a more than ordinary degree of information, acquired by the employment of much of his leisure time in reading, have given him an almost unbounded influence amongst those of his own class.

Though the invitation to Col. P.'s created some surprise in his mind, he felt more disposed to be pleased with the honor than to question the motives which prompted it; for his nature is wholly free from suspicion and the petty feeling of jealousy which those in his station sometimes indulge towards those of the "upper ten"—feelings with which, we are sorry to say, the bosom of his better half was often agitated.

"We have been neighbors for some time, Mr. Darling," said Col. Philipot, "it is time we were better acquainted. You must come and dine socially with me to-morrow. Mrs. Philpot and the children are out of town, and I am going to have a few friends to enliven my solitude."

So John Darling "saved his appetite," dressed himself in his best clothes, and at the appointed hour—a somewhat later one than he was accustomed to eat his dinner—he repaired to Col. Philpot's.

He met there several of his associates—had a "fine time and a grand dinner"—the utmost hilarity and good feeling prevailed; and Mr. Darling entertained his wife with an account of it at every meal for weeks.

"Hester," said he one day, as they were seated at a codfish dinner, "did you ever taste a potato pudding?"

"Potato pudding! No; I never heard of such a thing."

"Well I wish you could, for they are really delicious. We had one when I dined at Colonel Philipot's."

"I wonder what you didn't have at Colonel Philipot's," said Mrs. Darling. "I declare I'm tired hearing of it."

"Well, I'll tell you one thing we didn't have—we didn't have codfish. But that pudding—I wish that you would learn how to make it; it was superb."

"I [illegible] so; and I guess if I had half a dozen servants at my heels, and a thorough trained cook in the bargain, I could have things superb too. But as long as I have everything to do myself and very little to do with, I don't see how I'm going to get things up in style. I wonder you can expect me to."

"I don't expect you to, Hester. You always do things to suit my taste. But that pudding was excellent; and, being made of potatoes, I thought, of course, it must be economical, and ——"

"Economical! That's all you know about it.—What strange men are! I'll warrant it had forty different things in it, and less potatoes than anything else. I'm no hand to fuss up. I like plain cookery, for my part."

"So do I, as a general thing. But, then, you know, it's well to have something a little better than ordinary, once in a while."

"Well, if you are not satisfied with my way of doing things, you must hire a cook, or go and board out." And Mrs. Darling put on her injured look and remained silent during the rest of the dinner."

But, after all, she was not really an ill-natured woman; and, after her husband had gone to his shop, she began to feel a little pricked in her conscience for having been so cross at dinner. She wished she had not gone on at such a rate. But, if John had bored her so much about that dinner at Colonel Philipot's she was out of patience with him. Yet what right had she to be out of patience with John? He never was out of patience with her, and she could but acknowledge that he often had reason to be so. So she resolved to make it up as soon as possible.

"John," said she, as she handed him a cup of tea, "I have a great notion to try that potato pudding. I believe I could make one."

"No doubt of it, Hester," said her husband, "you can do almost anything you try."

"I suppose it takes butter, and eggs, and sugar, and spices, and so forth; but I wish I knew the proportions."

"It would be very easy to find out all about it by calling at Colonel Philipot's. He told me that his wife would be delighted to get acquainted with you."

"So you have told me a dozen times; but I think if she wanted to get acquainted with me, she might call upon me. She has lived here longer than I have, and it isn't my place to call first; and I don't believe the colonel tells the truth when he says she wants to get acquainted."

"Well, I always think people mean as they say, and I wish you would too, Hester."

"But it's very evident that she holds herself a great deal above me. She has no reason to, certainly, for her family wasn't half as respectable as mine. Mrs. David Potter knows all about them, root and branch, and she says that Mr. Philipot's father kept a very low tavern in Norridge, and Mrs. Philipot herself tended the bar when she was a girl. But, somehow, Colonel Philipot happened to fall in love with her, and he sent her to school and then married her."

"Well, that's nothing against her."

"No, of course it wouldn't be, if she didn't carry her head so high now. But it's always the way with such persons—they never know how to bear prosperity. There wouldn't be anything said about her origin, if she didn't put on such airs; but, as long as she feels so lifted up, folks will talk, you know."

"Perhaps you don't do her justice, Hester. You know nothing about her excepting what you have heard. At any rate it would do no harm to call on her."

After repeated discussions and conversations of this sort, Mrs. Darling concluded to pay Mrs. Philpot a visit. She could make the potato pudding an excuse, and be governed by Mrs. P.'s reception in regard to further intercourse. Mrs. Philpot has been, for several years past, to use her own expression, "very unfortunate in her domestics." With the exception of her cook—up to the time of Mrs. Darling's call—she had seldom kept one above a month, and sometimes not as long as that. This frequent change of servants was not so much owing to any unkindness on Mrs. Philpot's part, as to the fact that Mrs. Mudlaw, her cook, could never agree with them. This functionary had been, for several years, a fixture in Colonel P.'s establishment; indeed, Mrs. P. declared she could not possibly get along without her. Mrs. Mudlaw was, in fact, a good cook, and so entirely relieved that lady from all care in that department that, rather than part with her, she was willing to submit to her petty tyranny in everything. The cook actually "ruled the roast" at Colonel P.'s in more than one sense. And she did not find the subalterns of the household as submissive to her wishes as Mrs. Philpot herself was. She contrived to quarrel them away in a short time, for she had only to say to Mrs. P., "Well, either Bridget or I must quit, so you may take your choice," and the offending servant-maid was dismissed forthwith, there being no appeal from Mrs. Mudlaw's decision.

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a TIGHT LOCK stitch, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather; and always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order, neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco

Of all diseases, the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted!

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret disease—Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing, or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above-mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities, and all diseases of males and females, treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures.—Medicines, with full directions, sent to any part of the State, Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the fangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude, make known their cases and remedial agent, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. The demands of society imperiously command their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the permanent recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrollable passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance—but alas! after a few weeks, and in several instances, months, of their treatment, I found to my unutterable horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their tortures, and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength, and energy; and as a last resort and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear, and my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins, the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful exciting, and at times plea night, followed by involuntary discharges, peared; and in fact, in two months after the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life but a short time ago I contemplated to end hand. With the view to guard the unfort into the snares of incompetent quacks, I offer this testimony to the merit and skill of and recommend him to all who may stand in cal advice, being assured by my own ex under his care a radical and permanent.
